THE DANITEM! by Josephia Miller, the poet of the Sterma, support by LOUIS ALDRICH, C. T. PARSLOM, and a wor by LOUIS ALDRICH, C. T. PARSLOW, and a wonderfully strong phenomenal cast. This attraction is noder the management of Mr. J. E. HAVERLY manager of Haveris's Phenter, Calcago, who pays Mr. sickee Bankin and Miss Kitty Blanchard a certainty of $40,000 for farty week. The DANITES, wherever produced, has been applicated to the echo by cultured and enthusiastic audiences, and at many fashionable theatens numbers were nightly turned away, unable to gold even signifing rooms. And the management connoently expect that the critical and intelligent public will indome the verdict that The Danites is the American play so long sought after at last found. PATRIOTIC LAWSUIT.

A Suit about the Fourth of July of Last Year, and its Celebration on the Sinff Amid Fireworks and Lemonade.

An interesting lawsuit has been progressing in the circuit court since yester lay mora-ing between Joseph Farrell, the big, fat oyster man, and Samuel Jackson, of pyrotechnic fame, growing out of the display on the fourth of July last. It appears that Gen-eral Peter Tracy got permission of the Chick-asaw Guards to occupy that part of the bluff inclosed and used by them as a drill-ground to exhibit his grand display of fireworks, in honor of the glorious fourth, and engaged Samuel Jackson, of Philadelphia, to mage and prepare the necessary materials view of a large turnout, the aforesaid rell rented of the general the refreshment privileges on the ground, paid him for the same, and laid in a large stock of sugar, lemons, ice, cheese, lindel jumbles, jack frosts, and other nick-nacks to please the tastes of the patriots on that hallowed occasion. And having erected a stand for the purpose, proceeded to cater to the public and take in the nickels, when the aforesaid Jack-son, thinking that the view of some patriot might be obstructed by the stand erected by Farcell, made baste to announce to Farrell that the same should be removed, and, aided by his friends, so frightened the old man that be pulled up his traps and beat a hasty retreat home to his couch, to sleep away the vexation of spirit, where, no doubt, he dreamed of the hundreds of dollars he would have made had not the man of fireworks driven him away, leaving his supplies to perish for want of a purchaser. Wherefore he sues for the damages austained by him. The details are amusing, and the case goes on to-day. Judge T. W. Brown and Colonel M. D. L. Stewart represent Farrell. General Horrigan and W. M. Still at Large.

Memphis Baptist, 22d: "The Memphis APPEAL has been our favorite city paper not only during the war but since, and it has been only weekly paper which we have taken easure in recommending to our patrons both and out of the State. When it has been sailed and accused of misrepresenting those who differed with it, as it has often been, our friendship has vindicated or apologized—and still it has been the only city paper we read. The reader may imagine our surprise, on opening the issue of the eighteenth, to find no Fancet and Air Presence," and keep embraced every person-man, woman and child who remained in the city-even those Fritz Pfemfert & Co., sole egents, 13 who fell victims to the scourge. We did those wishing first quality Italian murble court street. most obvious and numistakable to all who read our article. We copied the intemperate remarks of a Memphis correspondent of the lower than any firm in the United States can be suit the times, which we guarantee to be lower than any firm in the United States can be suit the times. Religious Herald, Richmond, Virginia, touching the pastors who left the city during the 300 Second street. epidemic, i. e., that they were shorn of their influence; that 'one has had to resign and others will have to go.' Also, the inquiry of a J. L. Smart, of Texas, of the editor of the Texas Baptist as to our whereabouts in the year 1873, when the fever swept the city. We thereupon said: It appears that there is a class of men who are It appears that there is a class of men who are scenting for the track of those ministers who may have left this city during the prevalence of the late plague, or in former years, in order to create, or direct the comment of, a perverted public opinion against them, to their ruit, if possible; for, says the hemphis correspondent to the Herald, "they must have" this aiready half-deserted city, and, if not fit for this place, for what place, pray? Now, having a supreme contempt for these inquisitors, and openly delying the inquisition they seek to create, so far as we are concerned we will make free confession before the instruments of torture are brought forth.

The APPEAL says:

"Yellow-Fever Hounds" is the name that the Memphis Buptist gives the dead and the survivors of the dreadful epidemic of 1878. How Christ-like.

The reader can see we never intimated such a thing. Hear it ngam:

"Yellow-Fever Hounds." Great God! To think of all those brave men endured, and that it has come to this at last—"yellow-fever bounds."

"We never applied such a form to a brave. "We never applied such a term to a brave man, here or anywhere else-nor binted it, nor can a word we wrote be construed thus; but we stated what we meant: these men, like the Herald's correspondent, who are scenting for the blood of those brave pastors who, after their members and congregations had left, felt it their duty to remove their families beyond the breath of the pestilence. and care for them, and returned, not to nurse, because there were more who desired the office than the Howards could employ, but exerted their influence in raising funds for that noble society. The APPEAL says

We want the "yellow-fever hounds," as the Bap-tist, in its un Christ-like way calls the survivors of the yellow-fever epidemic, to give us a sest on the runaway pastor business. "If the APPEAL will but read our article it will see what every reader sees, that we never called the survivors of the yellow-fever hounds, or intimate it. We would have included our own family and these who had free asylum under our roof. We have not space for all its articles, but we do deny most emphatically that we called those who nursed the sick and closed the eyes of the dead yeltow-fever bounds. If the editor will read ur article he will know we did not. We did not call 'five thousand one hundred and fifty dead men, women and children' 'yel-low-fever hounds'—they are not scenting the track of christian ministers!-a more monstrous misrepresentation of our language could not have been conceived. The usually careful APPEAL must have written on the epresentation of others. It is certainly wild-when in a calmer mood, and it has

OPINIONS AND RULINGS. Chancellor M'Towell yesterday made the blowing rulings in cases heretofore heard Reaves vs Broom; denaurrer overruled. Bigley vs O'Malley, contest for guardian-ship of child; court holds the present guardian, the detendant, a suitable person and better qualified, and entitled to the care, custody and control of the orphan, and therefore dissolves the injunction, in Waggoner vs Hardin; complainant fails establish mortgage was intended instead of absolute sale of lawehold interest by that strong and cogent proof which law requires Mrs. W. supposed she was making a mort-gage, and defendant being misled, was induced to part with his money. The lease as to the lot, the separate property, was void because of want of power. An account or dered in accordance with the court's ruling, Donaldson vs Prescott, suit against sure ties of guardian; judgment for complainant Lucarini vs Eddins; heirs of less se not before the court, must be brought in. No decree can be now entered.

CONVENTION OF RIVERMEN,

To be Held at Cincinnation the Thirty first of the Present Month, for the Purpose of Considering the Repeal of the Present Steam. beat Laws.

The following letter was received in this city a few days since: CINCINNATI, O., March 11, 1879. Mr. W. T. Avery: In accordance with a resolution of the chamber of commerce of this city, of the tenth instant, and in view of the vast importance of the repeal or modification of the present steamboat laws and of the immediate and permanent improvement of the low-water navigation of the Ohio river from Pittsburg to its mouth, also that of the Mississipp river from St. Louis to the gulf of Mexico and for the reclamation of the lowlands of its valley from overflow, and in order that cor

gress and the whole country may have a fu and free expression of opinion from river mer merchants and others deeply in sympathy with the above measures, we deem it necesare hereby invited. Please reply at your earliest convenience, if you can be present.

CALLED MEETING OF CHAMBER OF COM The following petition was presented t the chamber of commerce, and in response a meeting of the chamber will be held on to morrow (Saturday) afternoon at three o'clock to take action in the matter suggested in the petition: In response to a call for a convention river men to meet at Cincinnati on the thirty-first of March, 1879, made by the chamber of commerce of Cincinnati, for the read what we did say—it excitainly will correct itself and do us justice. We shall believe nothing else until we are compelled to believe that it intends to place us in a false position before its readers."

Intry-list of March, 1879, made by the chamber of commerce of Cuncinnati, for the repeal or medification of the present steambeat laws, and for the permanent improvement of the low-water navigation of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, and for the re-Ohio and Mississippi rivers, and for the re-clamation of the lowlands of the valley of the Mississippi river from overflow, the un der-igned, appreciating the high important of the foregoing subjects to our people and commercial interests, suggest that a meeting be held in the city of Memphis on the twenty second of March (to-morrow), responsive the call of the chanf er of commerce of Cin cinnati, for the purpose of appointing delegates to said convention, and that Captain
